

Richard Danbury

Senior Broadcast Journalist, BBC TV Newsnight, UK - Michaelmas 2007.

Richard Danbury holds a BA in Philosophy from Cambridge University and a Diploma in Law from the College of Law, London. He was called to the Bar in 1994 and in 1996 became a barrister at 9-12 Bell Yard (<http://www.9-12bellyard.com>), before leaving a year later to write travel guide books.

He joined the BBC as a researcher in 1999, on the programme Rough Justice. He has worked primarily in TV Current Affairs, and mainly for Newsnight and Panorama. For Newsnight, he won a New York Festivals Bronze Medal for producing Medicating to Execute with Tim Samuels. In 2004, as Associate Producer for Panorama, he was part of the team that won an RTS, Best Home Current Affairs Award for A fight to the death, a film on the Hutton Inquiry.

He first became an acting Senior Broadcast Journalist at Newsnight in 2005, when he co-produced Jeremy Paxman's 2005 General Election interviews with Richard Colebourne, which were well received.

Since he began his tenure as a Senior Broadcast Journalist on Newsnight he has produced various films, including Operation Crevice with Richard Watson, Meirion Jones and Nick Menzies.

He is a member of New York University's Remarque Institute Forum.